While in Frankfort a few days ago I had a copy of the printed bill, entitled "common school laws," handed me by a friend with a request to examine it. I have done so, section by section, and I must say that the contents of that bill must be mortal enemies of the common school system, or at least that is the conclusion that I was forced to, after reading the bill through. I hope, however, that I am wrong in that conclusion.

Now, in the first place, it is made in the duty of the Superintendent to determine the per capita on or before the 1st day of July of each year; but section 12, same article, says, that when the proportion of the State schools fund is paid the commissioners of common school of any district, he is to nominate the county judge, and the first, also, of the highest teachers, who children that have attended in any school, and that they shall then ascertain and fix a per capita upon the highest number of children attending school.

Now under the law 40 per cent. is due the teacher, and 60 per cent. to the county judge, so according to that section the commissioners must wait until the 1st of July before settling with the teachers, and even then he is to settle with each teacher according to the per centage of children attending his school.

Now, if they are to do this, then every parent or guardian to send their children to school under a heavy penalty on failure to do so, it might do, but as it is the teacher will have to drag them up by the hair of their head or run the risk of getting nothing for his labor and boarding them besides. In my opinion it would be better to let the parents pay that no persuasion or inducement could get them to send their children to school.

It is the apathy of the people, not of the teacher, that the attendance is so small.

Let section 12, article 2, become a law and it will virtually do away with common schools, as the teacher can make no contract, and the school unwilling to make himself responsible for the amount of the teacher's salary.

There is another difficulty arising right here.

What basis or plan will the county judge and commissioner fix upon whereby to determine their per capita?

Another great objection to this section is, that it will open the door for fraud and perjury.

There are other features of this bill that might seriously object to, but I shall not go into them now.

Section 12, article 5, allows the State superintendent three thousand dollars, salary office fixtures, stationery, books, postage, fuel and lights; also twenty-seven hundred and fifty dollars for clerk fees.

Then in addition to this, section 14, article 5, sets him up in the over of the state, and gives him a salary of one thousand dollars.

GEORGE A. LEWIS.
Editor and Publisher.

FRANKFORT, FEBRUARY 16, 1884.

Why not take up a collection in all the Churches to-morrow for the sufferers by the flood in the Ohio? Our citizens will give liberally we know, and there is no more appropriate place than the church to take up a collection for such a cause.

Miss Maggie Dufey, formerly of this city, and for many years an inmate of the Episcopal Orphans' Home in South Frankfort, was married at Catawba, Pendleton county, on the 6th inst., to Mr. J. M. Moss, of that place.

Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, the celebrated temperance lecturer and lawyer of Iowa, lectured in the Hall of the House of Representatives Monday night to the Legislature of Kentucky, Tuesday night at the Opera House, Wednesday night at the Methodist Church to the citizens, and Wednesday afternoon to the ladies of Frankfort, on each occasion to large and attractive audiences, and a rarer, more intellectual feast, our citizens have never enjoyed. She presented her subject in an earnest, logical manner, carrying conviction with every word she uttered, and not an unjust critic could be made against her. Leaving a happy home, and with it all the name implies, she, with her husband, is traveling this broad land of ours over, "that less honored homes may be made happier." Her life's work to the temperature cause.

This great grand hearted woman of Iowa completely won the people of Frankfort.

Wednesday afternoon Mr. James R. Eddings, who boards with Mr. J. L. Greenwell at Joshua, on the Flat Creek pike, seven miles from this city, rode over to Harvieland, on the Stony Creek pike, and after spending some time at the store of Mr. McQuillan, started home in company with a friend, but had not gone far before he fell from his horse and in a few moments expired. He was in this on Saturday and got on a pace which lasted several days and it is supposed that he had been using chloral to sober up on, as Mr. Greenwell smelt it very strongly in his room that morning. Coroner McEwan went out Thursday and held an inquest when the jury returned a verdict of death from a fall from his horse while under the influence of drugs. The deceased came to this county from Lockport, Henry county, about a year ago.

Who was He?

On Wednesday or Thursday of last week an old man, very feeble and nearly blind, went to the Railroad depot in this city, and stated that he wanted to go to Culpeper, Virginia. He said he was 77 years of age and came to this State when a young man, had never returned since, and was anxious to again visit the home of his childhood. Several gentlemen were with him, who purchased his ticket, and requested Mr. Bryan to see him on the train, let him in the waiting room. When the train came in he was assisted on board and started on his journey.

On Tuesday a letter was received by Mr. Bryan from the Superintendent of the C. & O. Railroad, wanting to know who the old gentleman was, and stated that he had been carried by his destination in the night but had been returned there and put off by another train. The next morning his body was found by the side of the track, having been run over and cut into by some passing train. The poor old man, not knowing where to go, was evidently wandering about in the darkness when he met his death. Some of the older citizens there thought they recognized the remains as those of a man who left that locality fifty years ago, but Mr. Bryan could tell them nothing as to the old gentleman, for he had never seen him before and did not know the men who were with him.

It is sad indeed, after waiting so many years to visit his native place that death should interpose just as his eye, dimmed by age, were about to be gladdened by a sight of the place where the happy days of childhood and youth had been spent—a sight which he had so longed for and was so sure he would see, now that the trains pass right by his old home.

LATER.—It is thought the remains are those of a man who killed a man at Culpepper fifty years ago and fled the country. If such is the case it looks like a retributive justice has overtaken him after many years.

Mr. Philip Selbert will raffle the handsome mechanical clock at his establishment, ten per cent. of the proceeds to go to the flood sufferers. Chances will be sold for one dollar. Call and secure one.

A concert for the benefit of the flood sufferers will be given at the Opera House tonight by the amateur talent of the city. The entertainment will be well worth the price of admission, and as the proceeds will be given for the relief of the suffering poor along the Ohio river, there should be a large audience in attendance.

Mr. Lewis Weitzel is making preparations to commence the erection of three new business houses on the site of his buildings recently destroyed by fire on St. Clair street. The block will be three stories high and sixty feet deep. The building at present occupied by Messrs. C. & J. Weitzel as a confectionery will be raised another story and otherwise improved so as to correspond with the balance of the block.

Streets and Lots Numbering

Our city fathers should at once pass a law to have the names of the streets placed upon the corner of every street and alley in the city. A piece of tin 14x4 inches, painted black and having white or gilded letters would suffice. At the same time have the houses numbered. This would give employment to some worthy mechanics and provide a blessing to our citizens and to strangers.

Mr. Philip Selbert, the St. Clair street jeweler, shipped on Monday two fine Elgin watches to gentlemen in Texarkana, Texas. Before ordering, the parties had prices from the Springfield, Illinois, manufacturer and accepted Mr. Selbert's preference. The order was given with the understanding there was no more of the same kind to follow if the watches sent gave satisfaction, which they will certainly do, as Mr. Selbert sells none but the best goods.

The river rose again Wednesday and Wednesday night, but yesterday was falling. There is no danger of a flood now and no uneasiness is felt among our citizens. The Sayre spring lot on Cross street is flooded, as is usually the case when it rains for any length of time. With the exception of last year, the water is higher than it has been in the past ten or twelve years. Travel has been cut off between Main and Shelly on Cross street and the water is nearly over Main street between Third and Cross. Mr. John W. McEwan has been compelled to abandon his house on account of its being nearly surrounded by water two or three feet deep. It does seem that this overflow might be remedied in some way by the city.

Death of Mr. P. Herancourt

About 10 o'clock Thursday night, Mr. Peter Herancourt, a highly respected citizen of this city, died suddenly of heart disease at his residence on Mero street. He had been sitting with his family all the evening engaged in pleasant conversation, and just before his usual hour for retiring went out to bring in a scuttle of coal. As he was gone some time his daughter, Miss Lillian, went to look for him, and found him in an almost unconscious condition. She immediately called for help and shortly after he was gotten into the house he breathed his last.

He came to this city from Cincinnati twelve or thirteen years ago and established the mait house and has been doing a very prosperous business. He has been a quiet, unobtrusive citizen, who attended strictly to his own business, and seldom left home. He was sixty-three years of age on the 8th of January and leaves a wife and three children, all grown, to mourn his loss.

The committee appointed by the Court of Claims, at its last meeting, met in this city on Wednesday, when the following action was had:

FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 14, 1884.
The Committee which was appointed by the County Court of Claims to see to the repairing of the old road leading from the Louisville pike to the head of Shelly street, in South Frankfort, met and made an order instructing D. M. Woodson, County Surveyor, to survey said road and make plans and specifications, so that bids, for the construction of the same, could be advertised for, and upon the report of said Surveyor said Committee, to advertise for bids.

J. B. RUSSELL,
S. M. TINSLEY,
J. W. B. HANNAN, Com.

FRANKLIN COUNTY, Feb. 14, 1884.
The Committee of the Jail met, and Esq. McDonald being absent, adjourned to meet again on the 23d day of Feb., 1884.

J. B. RUSSELL,
S. M. TINSLEY.

Rev. John C. Freeman, of Fayette county, will preach at South Benson Church this morning and to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock. All invited to attend.

Messrs. W. A. Gaines & Co. gave $500 to the flood sufferers yesterday, and the Legislature appropriated $75,000 more, making $100,000 in all that the State has given.

The Democratic caucus of the Legislature on Wednesday evening nominated Dr. John D. Woods, of Bowling Green, for Public Printer. We regret exceedingly that our neighbors of the Yeoman were defeated, as they are gentlemen from whom we have ever received the kindest consideration, and in every fight we are for Frankfort and her people against the world. During the years they have held the position these gentlemen have been exceedingly liberal with their employes in paying the highest prices for labor, and their defeat is also to be regretted on this account, as we doubt if any one else will do as they have done for the past six years pay their compositors exactly the same price per 1,000 ems that they receive from the State.

WANTED TO RENT.—A piano. Apply at this office.

A good blacksmith can learn of a situation by applying at this office.

Governor and Mrs. Knott will hold a levee on Tuesday evening, next.

The first mush of the season was made at the F. F. C. Distillery on Thursday morning.

The Legislature passed a resolution on Wednesday appropriating $25,000 to the sufferers by the great flood in the Ohio river.

We are under obligations to Messrs. Crutcher & Stephens for a tender, juicy sample of their Kentucky Short-horn beef. It is splendid.

Mr. Nelson B. Groves and Miss Mollie Gorham were married at the County Clerk's office Tuesday night, about 7 o'clock, Judge H. A. Thomson officiating.

In the Circuit Court last week John Kiernan was fined $75 for attempting to kill Ned Conner, while Ned Conner was fined $100 for attempting to kill his horse.

Mr. Jacob Sidenor, father of Elder John A. Sidenor, of this county, died at his home in Bourbon county on the 6th inst., aged 96 years. He was a soldier of the war of 1812.

The members of the Executive Committee of the Franklin County Bible society are requested to meet at the office of Messrs. Payne & Berry this evening at 7:15 o'clock.

At a called meeting of the City Council Thursday afternoon the following appropriations were made to the sufferers by the flood: Covington and Ashland $200; Newport $200; Covington, $100; Maysville, $100; Carrollton, $50, and Milton $50.

Dogs are making depredations among the sheep in the Jones Station neighborhood, this county. One night recently Mr. R. K. Woodson had twenty killed by them. Mr. John Hanly lost five or six, and Mr. Llewellyn Crutcher had two badly torn.

On Tuesday night Hiram Lodge, No. 4, A. Y. M., donated $25 to the flood sufferers of Newport, which amount was sent to Mayor Harton of that place. On Wednesday night a like sum was donated by Esoteric Lodge, No. 532, and sent to the same city.

The U. S. Mail Line has sold the Hornet to parties at Carrollton and will discontinue running their boats in this trade. Mr. H. B. Cannock, who has been the agent of the Company at this place for some time, will take the position of second clerk on the Hornet as soon as the river falls sufficiently to permit her to pass under the bridge at Cooperskin.

A silver lamprey or mud eel, about twelve inches in length, was caught out of the river by a colored man one day last week. It is a rare fish in these waters, and so far as we have been able to learn, this is the first ever taken in this section. It has much the appearance of a large leech and is parasitic. It was placed in alcohol and turned over to the Geological Survey.

The best Cigars and Tobacco to be found in the city at Marshall's, corner Main and St. Clair streets.

A Geological Hall

One of the most important branches of our State Government, is the geological department. This interesting and scientific office should be properly provided for, have abundance of light and be easy of access.

Just now it is next to impossible to see portions of the valuable collection made by the State Geologists, owing to the lack of light. This Legislature should appoint a commission of three or four members, who should have authority to purchase a site and to procure necessary plans for a suitable edifice. All this would involve but $50,000 at most.

In this building rooms could be provided for the commissioner of Agriculture, with a hall, or rotunda in connection in which exhibits might be left of agricultural implements, seed, &c., connected with our farm products.

To spend money in this way would be a remunerative investment or the State.

Canned goods a specialty at Marshall's, corner Main and St. Clair streets.

Mr. J. M. Church is closing out his grocery and proposes to go into the saddlery and harness business.

W. C. T. U. Notes.

The W. C. T. U. meets every Wednesday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, in the Sunday School room of the Christian Church;

"Cincinnati has six miles of run hotel, New York has seventeen, and London has seventy-three. What a long walk the devil must take when he calls on his friends."

The W. C. T. U. of St. Catherine, Ontario, sends out a little card to the homes of the city as each holiday season approaches, entreating every mother and sister not to offer intoxicants to their guests. It has worked to a charm.

"I have made a thousand dollars during the last three months," said a saloon-keeper, "but I have not a cent to show for it." "You have made more than that," quietly remarked a listener. "What is that?" "You have made wretched homes, women and children poor, and sick and weary of life, you have made my two sons drunkards," continued the speaker, with trembling earnestness, "you made the younger of the two so drunk that he fell down dead in the street. You have made their mother a broken-heart woman. O, yes, you have made much more than I can reckon up, but you'll get full count some day—you'll get it some day."

The BANKER'S DAUGHTER.—At the Grand Opera House last evening, the greatest of American dramatic actresses, "Natalie," however presented by J. F. O'Connor, in her boyish rôle of "John Strelow," gave a large audience, which did not fail to give a manifold appreciation of their satisfaction at the manner in which the characters were enacted. The plot of the play is already too well known to require an extended review in these columns, suffice it to say that the many thrilling and interesting scenes were well enacted, and with due attention by the performers, and the members of the cast were rewarded with numerous hearty encores. The "John Strelow" of Charles L. Farwell, the "Mr. Brown" of James F. Tighe, and the "G. Washington Phipps" of J. F. Crossen were the most evenly rendered characters among the men, while the honors with the ladies went to Mrs. Anna Miller, Mrs. D. B. Florence St. Vincent Brown, and Miss May Lecoe as "Lillian." The acting of little May Keane in the character of "Natalie," "Lillian's" daughter, also calls for words of commendation and showed a remarkable amount of precociousness in one so young. The piece was very effectively set, the most notable scenes being the vestibule and stairs scene, the house-hunting scene, and the duel at Paris in act third, and the ruins of the chateau near Paris, when the duel takes place in act fourth. The play will be repeated this afternoon and evening, and from the favor with which it was received last night it is safe to predict large audiences.

The Daily Courier Oct. 27, 1883.

The Opera House was well filled last evening, and a considerable audience. The play as announced was admirably presented, both in scenery and acting. It was a rare treat and way above the average. We congratulate the audience on their good fortune of being there.—Lafayette Daily Journal.

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT.

Wigginton.

Mr. EDITOR: As our place has not been heard from through your paper for some time, I will give you a short sketch.

Sheriff's election is all the talk here. Hurrah for Collins!

A good many of our people are attending court at Frankfort this week.

Boys, keep your boots blacked, for there will be two weddings next week.

The boys have all sworn off again, and are not going to drink another drop.

The people are preparing for a large crop of tobacco this season in this vicinity.

Miss Belle McCord, of Gratz, Owen county, spent last week with friends in this village.

Dr. J. L. Massie, of Owen county, was the guest of Mr. W. G. Wiggin-ton last Saturday and Sunday.

Joe Wiggin-ton has purchased a farm of Dr. Hatchinson, near this place. We will have Joe for a neighbor now.

Some of our boys went to Frankfort to elect a United States Senator last Tuesday night. You know their success.

Mr. Whifield West says he wishes the court would adjourn, as he is lucky enough to be a witness in several cases.

Our citizens have presented a petition to the Legislature to have our village incorporated. We are going to have peace and order now. Fights are getting to be too common here.

KECK.

Joshua.

Mrs. Elizabeth Pulliam is on the sick list.

Mrs. Burb Pulliam is very sick with pneumonia.

Mr. Alton Parish visited relatives in Indiana last week.

James Marshall visited friends in Tigner neighborhood last week.

There is a blacksmith shop, store, post office and a school-house at this place.

The tobacco buyer, Mr. Sullivan, of Frankfort, visited Mr. Geo. Harrod last Thursday.

Mr. Green Chisolm is in very low spirits. His horn is stopped up and his hounds run down.

This being the first time I have made an effort to write, thinking De Deb had expired, you needn't expect a very large amount of news from this place.

PONTO.

Switzer.

Rain and mud in abundance.

Mrs. Robert Stroet and wife, of Kansas City, Mo., are visiting friends in this country.

Mr. Wm. Pryor and wife are visiting relatives and friends in this part of the country.

Miss Kittie Hockensmith, of Peak's Mill, spent several days in our neighborhood last week.

The ery now is for another change in the weather. They want it cool with high winds to settle the mud.

Rumor has it that we will soon loose another one of our dear girls. The young man, and lucky one, resides near Frankfort.

Mr. D. D. Baker is representing the boys in this end of the county in the grand jury room this week. Look out, dear boys, if you have been doing wrong he will not forget you.

Mr. B. D. Head, of Monterey, is still in our neighborhood. He has been quite complaining for some time. A pain near the upper left vest pocket has got worse. Will some one prescribe?

As a word of advice to some of the timid young men who visit our neighborhood, I would say when you call on a young lady without sending a card, or calling for leave, that you have a rapier hand and strong arm. When you have a certain lady in this position, come to the parlor door. And when it is your sad fate to have to leave without being heard be careful not to leave your wraps on the door step.

We learn from our beloved editor, that the correspondent who writes up the news from Between the Bridges is a very beautiful young lady. Now if this be true, and we have every reason to believe that it is, we do not think it either strange or remarkable that young men go so far and from so many different places to call on her. Her answer, not the little town or its inhabitants generally speaking, but a few, and perhaps, more especially, he conveys the front every week with a nice newy letter for the ROUNDABOUT.

BONAMI.

Flat Creek.

Too muddy to visit, consequently news is scarce.

Mr. Newton Shackelford and wife visited Mr. Lewis Lee last Monday.

Mr. Edmund Lee returned last Friday from a visit to relatives in Louisville.

Mr. Johnny Moore, of North Pleasureville, visited James Herrel last week.

The tobacco buyer, Sullivan, was in this neighborhood last week buying tobacco.

We are glad to announce the fact, that Brack Moore is a candidate for constable.

The piano Mr. Riley Clark expected to get when he shipped his tobacco turned out to be a cooking stove.

Rev. A. B. Cabaness, of Louisville, Editor of the Western Record, preached at Lebanon Church Feb. 2d and 3d.

Mrs. Mildred Dickens, of Shelby county, visited her sister, Mrs. Mahala Allison, who is very low with consumption last Thursday.

Mr. Riley Clark happened to bad luck the other day. His chimney fell down and he had to call on the boss carpenter to rebuild it.

Rusty Cuss is a very notorious fellow. He has purchased the house and lot of Jas. R. Harrod and will carry on his business in Shelby county instead of Franklin.

Mr. Henry Allison traded a stack of hay which weighed about a ton and a half to Henry Rodgers for a small call skin. Look out, Sam. Harris, there is opposition afoot.

On account of extremely cold winter and changeable weather, Mr. Dennis Gordon's hogs have taken bad colds and are now dying with consumption. Run for Constitution.

Since the Franklin county court has made an appropriation for the exten-tion of the Devil's Hollow turnpike near the county line, which will leave the high bridge at T. D. Kessler's in the void, the bridge will be dis-continued and crossed, the keeper of the bridge, will be discharged. Any railroad without a dispensation to those, who may say we know none deserving or more worthy the sufferage of the people for that office than Mr. W. H. Hawkins. Having served as deputy under Sheriff Robinson a few years since very efficiently, beeps him a flattering vote.

Taylor Parrent had a swarm of bees to come out last Tuesday and go into another home just as they usually do in May and June. An unprecedent occurrence.

We see in a recent issue of the Roundabout a gentleman or two spoken of as suitors and probable candidates for the office of Assessor at the Aug. 1st election, 1855.

Without a dispensation to those, who may but owing to the timely discovery of the mischief a serious loss was prevented.

Quite a gloom over spreads our entire country, in consequence of the great flood now devastating the Ohio valley.

That other wedding we spoke of some time since, as being in the near future, we should judge to be about ripe.

The warm weather of the past week or more, has caused vegetation to spring up, until a spring-like appearance is the result.

Misses Aline and Laura Wiggs, of Gravesburg, accompanied by their brother, Mr. Eddie, were the guests of Judge R. Brown and his wife last Saturday.

Several ladies and gentlemen, of this place, attended the marriage ball at Alton, last Thursday night. They report a vast amount of enjoyment.

A considerable quantity of tobacco is being handed through this place daily, en route for Frankfort, from whence it will be shipped to Louisville.

Taylor Parrent had a swarm of bees to come out last Tuesday and go into another home just as they usually do in May and June. An unprecedent occurrence.

Greeensburg.

A great deal of sickness prevails.

J. C. Gibbs and his son Thomas are lying very ill.

It has been raining for four successive days and nights, and still it rains.

Miss Siddle Storte, of Oldham county, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Len. Blythe.

A wedding spoken of in the near future. Will tell you more about it as it draws nearer.

Mrs. Stillwell, formerly of Indiana, now of Hiawatha, Kansas, is visiting friends and relatives here.

Mr. Hughes, of Bardstown, is here on a short stay, and from the numerous visits of those Alton boys he had better talk fast or make a protracted stay.

He paid the oyster supper at Bridgeport a success, as it was gotten up for a noble cause. Hope they will remember the old saying, if at first you don't succeed try again.

Prof. Carter's school commenced last Monday with quite a turnout. His attention is directed to the oysters, and while engaged at one end of the barn a piece of thirty feet long, 6 by 2 inches, fell a distance of fifty feet, striking him on the head and shoulders, crushing him to the ground and burying his head in the mud. He must have bled pretty freely from his ear, as the hole where his head was was nearly filled with blood. How long he was in that condition, and how he extricated himself, will remain a mystery as he can tell nothing about it. He was evidently unconscious about 3 hours.

Jas. Rankin came very near losing his life on last Wednesday. He went to the fair on the 20th of this month, and while engaged at one end of the barn a piece of thirty feet long, 6 by 2 inches, fell a distance of fifty feet, striking him on the head and shoulders, crushing him to the ground and burying his head in the mud. He must have bled pretty freely from his ear, as the hole where his head was was nearly filled with blood.

How long he was in that condition, and how he extricated himself, will remain a mystery as he can tell nothing about it. He was evidently unconscious about 3 hours.

Mr. Editor, I am somewhat like Tennessee, in that I have a mind of my own, and know when to stop. Will call your attention to two other items and then close. There is a report in circulation here about Mr. Collins, who is doing him injustice. It says that in his other race he took several deputations of his ticket to secure their influence to elect him, and when elected he offered them such a small price and demanded such a sum, that they were bound to let him in. I am afraid, if true, it can not but convince any reasonable man that does not let prejudice rule him that Mr. Collins is right. If he accepted the deputies forty dollars a month, take any kind of reasonable bond, the bond should not bother them. They failed to accept, consequently it was not his fault, the terms being reasonable.

Religious services in the various churches here are following Christian church, Rev. George Davis, second and fourth Sabbath evenings of each month. Methodist, Rev. James Johnson, fourth Saturday and Sunday. Baptist, Rev. S. H. Salen, third Saturday and Sunday, A. M. And right here let me say that it is strange, after so many opportunities of hearing God's word, that we have so few Christians. And as Rankin said, after getting out of the mud, he has been in the mud ever since from death. This is the closest shade of them all, and I think he is left for some purpose, when he sees so many evidently Christians taken away. God is wise and just and gives us all a chance to do something. I will illustrate in this way a person who has had opportunities to do something and did not do it is like a man who would hire a horse to pull a load all day and do nothing. He would be ashamed, to meet you at night, to demand pay he had not earned. Nevertheless it is due in daily transaction, also from a religious stand point.

Another lady wants to know whether tobacco is bugged or wormed.

Miss Jenkins spent several days this week the guest of Misses Ida and Sue Crockett, Frankfort.

Capt. George Sudduth came near losing his nest meat, with his entire crop of bacon, by fire last week. A stick on which bacon is hung for the purpose of smoking broke precipitating several pieces into the furnace places don't amount to anything. We say that the Roundabout, without friends, in places without gossip, creates a friendly feeling from all parties interested. Not only

Roundabout as their newspaper, and I also a few more sub. Don't be discouraged, correspondents, because one out of twelve will say that letters from their
